From Executive Director Bonnie Sawyer

After ten years of dedicated work to Herren Project, I was honored to have our board's full support and confidence to take the helm as Executive Director this past year. I am happy to report this was a year of measured growth, strategic refocus, and renewed inspiration as we navigated the waters of change in times of unprecedented need.

Herren Project is a group of passionate individuals who believe in and are committed to supporting extended care, prevention, health equity, and helping others. But it is hard to understand the value of any organization without looking at the greater context. What is possible when a group of committed individuals dedicates service to a humanitarian mission such as ours?

Our staff and board spent time pondering some big questions. What is our contribution to society? Are we making the impact we can bring to the world? We considered our time and place in history. The fiscal year 2022 came on the heels of riots over George Floyd and the resurrection of social engagement after lockdowns from a global pandemic. The ongoing effects of social isolation began a mental health crisis with record-breaking overdose deaths. Add natural disasters and wars in other lands, inflation, and fears of scarcity, and you might wonder how any of us survived.

All the while, Herren Project's outreach, and services grew tremendously during this time. Individuals seeking help increased by 324%. Family support requests grew by 528%. Our Herren Project Clubs brought the scaffolding to engage youth more passionately and support social and emotional health. We added capabilities in mental health training and sounded the alarm about new lethal drugs on the streets.

We know true change must start from within. Beginning with an internal process of self-reflection, consideration, and openness to change, we looked at those big questions and began charting the course for our second decade of service. One thing we knew for sure, there was no better time than now to do what we do, be who we are, provide our services, exert our voice, and work for change.

This year we formed a strategic planning committee and hired an independent consultant. We interviewed significant players in our field, affirmed and clarified our purpose, and rejuvenated the spirit behind our mission. We defined our strategic direction and priorities, how to leverage collaborative partnerships to maximize our impact, and formulated and adopted a formal three-year strategic plan.

We are more committed than ever to bringing our influence to make systemic change where that is possible. We believe the field of addiction provides unique opportunities as it cuts across divisions allowing Herren Project to serve as a voice for unity, understanding, and connection. Going forward, you can expect us to make organizational changes to build capacity and position the organization for growth so that we may rise to the challenges we face with addiction today.

As you review our milestones and progress this year and consider what we stand for, I hope you will continue to support our worthy mission and be a part of the change we are bringing to the world. One person, one family, and one community at a time, we can recover and overcome the disease of addiction.

Gratefully,

"This year heralds a new trajectory of growth for the organization as it aims to maximize its potential impact in responding to the addiction crisis. We are confident that Bonnie will bring her passion, hard work and vision to leading the organization through its next stage of growth."

- Ryan Connolly, President, Board of Directors

Our Inspiration & Legacy

HELPING OTHERS IN A TIME OF NEED

Today, thanks to someone's helping hand, Chris Herren has celebrated long-term recovery for over 14 years. Grateful for the gift of recovery, he and his wife founded Herren Project in March 2011. Their example and inspiration have prompted many individuals and families to reach out for help and have empowered communities nationwide to come together to help prevent the disease of addiction. We are proud that Chris gave us our name and mission.

What Chris and Heather began eleven years ago started with a simple gesture -- an outstretched hand to help another in a time of need -- Herren Project carries on today, walking with all people on their journey to recovery. What the Herren family started, Herren Project, continues as a lasting legacy of love for our fellow human beings, flawed as each of us may be, but every bit worthy. In the spirit of helping all people, we aim to share our stories and offer peer support. We give hope and compassion where there is darkness and stigma. We work to lift hearts and minds. The first step of change is to walk in another's shoes.

Herren Project's endowment at the Rhode Island Foundation enables this legacy of love to carry on for years to come. Expertise from the Rhode Island Foundation is available for donors wishing to give to the endowment or to leave a legacy gift. Please inquire about the Herren Project Fund at the Rhode Island Foundation for more information.

Our Journey

WHERE THE WORLD NEEDS US TO BE

Chris's philosophy of walking with people from wherever they are in their recovery journey has also guided our journey as an organization since 2011.

From our beginning, we have helped thousands of people in acute crisis take their first steps in recovery by finding high-quality, in-patient treatment and, when needed, providing in-kind treatment scholarships. Seven-week recovery housing and coaching scholarships were added to give professional post-treatment coaching, recovery plans, and recovery housing rent to help people transition from treatment to long-term sobriety.

Addiction is a family disease. Families are a vital piece of an individual's recovery and need support to recover from the broader impacts of this cruel disease. Access to one-on-one phone consultations and online support groups was increased as resources for the families affected by substance use disorder.

Community and connection are key success markers for long-term recovery and the prevention of relapse and the disease of addiction. Our alumni communities and Team Herren Project fundraising community strengthen recovery and bring positive awareness to break the stigma. Along with treatment and recovery support, prevention education is an essential factor in overcoming the disease of addiction and empowering youth to live healthy lives substance-free. Herren Project Clubs, our youth prevention and wellness program, was launched to meet this need.

Inspiration, ingenuity, and a powerful commitment to our mission have enabled us to develop a growing, multi-faceted organization during our first ten years. Now, our very success requires that we take a clear look at where we are and where the world needs us to be.

Changing the Face of Addiction

MOVING THE NEEDLE

Herren Project is committed to preventing the disease of addiction one person, one family, and one community at a time. Our comparative strength is in New England, but as the need for services has increased since the pandemic, we are receiving inquiries for help from all 50 US states. We have begun to prioritize our program growth in selected targeted areas to amplify our impact on community wellness and combat the disease of addiction.

In our strategic planning process, we realized we could not efficiently be all things to all people. Acknowledging we reach people nationally, we want to ensure we never turn anyone in need away. We hope to leverage our relationships for maximum community impact, combining the weight of all our programs and services while building strong partnerships with deep community connections.

Because we are mission-driven, we think it best to focus on comparative advantages and work with others to maximize impact and make a meaningful, effective, and efficient contribution with the end goal of “moving the needle” on the disease of addiction.

SPOTLIGHT ON NEWPORT COUNTY

It must start in our backyard. Like other communities in the state and the country, Newport County has seen an increase in overdose deaths, especially with fentanyl. Thanks to grant funding from the Newport Fund at the Rhode Island Foundation, Herren Project began dedicated outreach to support area residents who might be struggling with substance use disorder. Services include free consultations with a clinical social worker, treatment navigation, online support groups, and access to scholarships for sober living and recovery coaching.

The Need

THIS IS THE MOMENT & THE NEED HAS NEVER BEEN GREATER

Rates of substance use disorder and overdose deaths remain high and continue a long-term upward trend.

Our culture encourages substance use and overuse, yet it casts shame and stigma on those who fall into substance use disorders.

American youth are facing a longstanding mental health crisis that COVID has intensified. Drug and alcohol misuse among adolescents remain of concern.

Available and affordable recovery services fall short of the need.

The overall response to addiction is based on a medical model focusing on short-term treatment with medication. It undervalues the power and importance of non-medical supports over the long term, particularly social bonds, supportive communities, and empowered families.

Research confirms that a robust continuum of care paired with family and social support networks is critical to long-term recovery. However, insurance rules and medical systems are not organized to provide that continuum of care over the long term.

In 2021, we began a strategic review involving our Board members, staff, and long-time associate counselors. As we embarked upon the new fiscal year, our strategic planning committee started by conducting interviews with key community organizations and influencers in the addiction field to understand our value and unique strengths better. With the guidance of a consultant, we reviewed our planning team's program goals and strategies with the board and adopted a final version of a three-year strategic plan in early 2022.

"The industry in addiction has become Balkanized. Too many organizations are doing duplicative things and competing for funding. Herren Project can best add value with recovery scholarships and sober support systems. Focus on collaboration." - William Moyers, author, VP of Public Relations and Community Affairs, Hazelden/Betty Ford

"Social dislocation is a huge macro trend that is not going away. Herren Project would add value by focusing on the community building aspect and prevention in a broader sense." - Nell Hurley, Hurley Health

"Clinician-led support groups for individuals and families fill a critical gap. Providing access to support is a valuable service for the community. Connections to community and stigma are very important, but we need to do it in a culturally competent way." - Jonathan Cohen, VP Strategy, Worcester Community Foundation

"It is okay to be criticized. The most important thing we can do as a nonprofit is to take a stand, even if may be unpopular. We shouldn't follow the herd, but look to new promising approaches, have the courage and then take a bow." - Dr. Omar Manejwala, author, keynote and addiction expert

Individual Recovery Services

Our executive and board leadership decided to shift priorities to focus on the gaps in the addiction marketplace to best meet the urgent need. In FY 2022, we made investments to double our impact in post-treatment, long-term recovery support, and peer support.

Two new roles were introduced to expand our Individual Recovery Services team. We hired a Community Engagement Coordinator to focus on building community through our alumni and ambassador programs and a Recovery Coaching Supervisor to grow our recovery coaching network and program nationwide.

In FY 22, we increased the number of recovery housing scholarships awarded and the time spent with a recovery coach. Two recovery coaching phases were added to our recovery scholarship model, expanding the access to a coach from seven weeks to six months. In addition, six new recovery coaches were welcomed to our team, doubling its size to 12. Peer support efforts continued to be strengthened through weekly online recovery groups and alumni engagement opportunities.

Infrastructure investments were also made to provide better tracking of program data to improve the monitoring of program outcomes. These significant improvements will extend the time in a recovery care environment and peer support. They will better help us to support, inspire, and empower those who reach out to take the first step in their recovery journey, positively affecting recovery outcomes with an increased length of sobriety.

FY 2022 saw a record number of people reaching out for support to take the first steps toward recovery from alcohol and drugs.

Family Recovery Services

With dangerous drugs on our streets and overdoses reaching epidemic proportions, the need for family support groups again increased this year. Unfortunately, the demand for grief support alone tripled with record fatal overdoses. Leadership made it a priority to double the access to our online support groups and one-on-one consultations. This year five new groups were added, including a new sibling group. We currently have 26 groups per week, with an average of 312 participating weekly.

Online support groups are free and accessible to everyone with a connection to the internet. As part of our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, our first Spanish-speaking Family Support Group is set to launch in September 2022. We are also working towards translating communications and resource materials to Spanish to break language barriers and reach more people in need.

“We found Herren Project after our son died of an accidental overdose. The Tuesday grief group has been a guiding light as we navigate the emotions of loss and grief that we feel. Rebecca’s facilitation is the perfect blend of wisdom, validation, encouragement, and support. Herren Project has offered our grief a home to be explored, managed, and understood. We are so grateful.”
- Brad & Meg Taylor

“When I joined my family group, I was an emotional mess trying to cope with both of my sons’ addictions. The group enveloped me in their strength. The sharing of their path and wisdom has helped me to become so much stronger. I began using the tools we shared in the group to respond differently to my sons. I can say that one son has been walking the path of sobriety for eight months. And with the help of the Herren Project’s team, the other son is in Florida receiving treatment. I would not be where I am now. My sons would not be where they are now without all who have become my family. Herren Project IS the light in the lighthouse.” - Valerie Kittleson

Prevention and Wellness

Herren Project Clubs are increasingly becoming a vehicle for program content that seeks to engage young people in relevant and meaningful ways while preventing substance misuse. Since the pandemic, there has been an urgent need for behavioral health type resources for youth. We aim to double the number of youths participating in Herren Project school-based clubs each year. As of July 31, 2022, 28 new clubs were welcomed, for a total of 239 clubs in 34 states.

In responding to a post-COVID time of isolation, this year was one of increased focus on overall mental health for adolescents and teenagers. Key prevention team members became certified trainers in Youth and teen Mental Health First Aid in FY 2022 as part of a community impact program incorporating Herren Project Clubs and MHFA. To be piloted in FY 2023, the program will engage youth from all backgrounds using social and emotional learning tools and access to behavioral health intervention services and community resources. The program will train youth leaders and parents in mental health first aid, a skills-based course to teach how to identify, understand, and respond to mental health and substance use challenges. The goal is to help teens, parents, and caregivers identify mental health challenges and respond to them quicker while arming youth with social and emotional coping skills to reduce the risk of mental health challenges.

"The current gap in mental health and behavioral health services compelled Herren Project to expand our prevention outreach and strengthen protective factors among adolescents. As part of our model for community impact, we aim to enhance the network of support for teens." - Tricia Mansfield, Director of Programs and Partnerships

Team Herren Project is an inclusive, diverse community of individuals committed to raising funds and awareness to support the work of Herren Project. Participants celebrate recovery, heal from loss, and inspire those around them through healthy activities like 5ks, marathons, triathlons, and Spartan Races.

This fiscal year the Team Herren Project community added more than 200 new participants, raising close to $800,000 to support the work of Herren Project. Team Herren Project continues to thrive as a vibrant healing community fueled by a passion for the cause.

Team Herren Project sponsored 12 events this year, including another 26 through the Own Your Own Event. The year kicked off with the 49th running of the iconic Falmouth Road Race in August and brought a record 55 teammates together to celebrate recovery while helping others with their efforts raising $57,391.

Herren Project was grateful to again be selected as an official B.A.A. Boston Marathon Charity. # Ambassadors

THE POWER OF COMMUNITY AND CONNECTION

Herren Project Ambassadors are a group of community members, young and old, from across the country who go the extra mile to connect others to Herren Project's services and promote the power of recovery and wellness. Each participates differently, from organizing events to raising funds for the mission. Still, one thing they all have in common is they all raise positive awareness and help break the stigma of addiction to drugs and alcohol.

This year we held our 4th Annual Retreat for our adult ambassadors at the Craigville Retreat Center on Cape Cod. We welcomed five new ambassadors for a total of 28 people from all walks of life. It is hard to describe what the retreat means to each person, but something powerful happens when you bring together different pieces of recovery. This retreat reignites our purpose through community and connection and lives our mission through action.

We had the privilege of welcoming our second group of youth ambassadors. Herren Project welcomed 14 youths from across the country in September 2021. We also introduced our first national executive board, with Natalie DeLaCruz as our first president. This dynamic group participated in passion projects, leadership training, and blogs and vlogs.

We bid farewell to our Youth Engagement Specialist, Izzy B, in December. We are grateful for her time here at Herren Project and the work she did to be a voice for today's young people. A freshman in college, Natalie quickly transitioned from President to Youth Engagement Specialist, never skipping a beat, and began working on creating a new youth podcast, The Purple Effect.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

A CONNECTED AND SUPPORTED COMMUNITY
WHERE ALL PEOPLE THRIVE

Since our beginnings, our core values have embraced the dignity of every individual, regardless of race, creed, gender, or any other status. We believe it is important to model the change we hope to see in the world. Addiction cuts through issues of racism, hatred, religion, politics, and division. That is why we have committed to diversity, equity, and inclusion as a core mission-centric principle, and a course of change begins internally.

Kristin Young, LICSW, promoted to Clinical Director in June 2022, is credited with bringing diversity issues to the forefront of the organization. She led the organization in setting and achieving goals aligned with the National Culturally and Linguistic Appropriate Services (CLAS) standards at the staff, Board, and program levels. She continues to lead our DEI committee and train staff to educate and formulate goals and strategic priorities, making us a welcoming environment for all.

As a health and human service organization, creating an environment where all people can thrive means supporting our diverse communities and ensuring they have access to needed services. Addiction can affect anyone, but the solution isn't uniform for all. We are mindful of barriers to segments of people who may need services -- trust, language, cultural bias, and financial costs. To serve all people affected by substance use disorder, we must understand their specific issues and barriers with an eye toward improvement.

We are working to leverage community partners to reach minority communities to diversify youth participation and bring our recovery services to underserved people.

"If we are to walk as trusted allies, we must first look in the mirror. Change starts from within. After a year of self-reflection, considering our own internal biases, and undergoing personal change, Herren Project is ready to embark on a formal plan to become a welcoming human service organization that all people can trust. We aim to serve more BIPOC and LGBTQIA+ individuals and families in need. We hope to walk with them as friends and allies on their road to recovery."
- Kristin Young, Herren Project Clinical Director

Creating Harmony

Herren Project piloted a collaborative program with the California-based nonprofit Rock to Recovery this year. Rock to Recovery provided a perfect vehicle for creative self-expression and peer bonding, enhancing the impact of Herren Project Clubs. Six schools in Massachusetts, Oregon, North Carolina, and Texas participated. The response was positive, and we hope to continue this collaboration.

"It became my dream to create a music program that could help all those in need. We've long envisioned getting into high schools to work with younger populations. Young people get so much from music, emotionally and neurologically. Partnering with Herren Project is truly a dream come true!" - Wes Geer, Rock to Recovery Founder & former guitarist of Korn

Collaborative Partnerships

MAXIMIZING COMMUNITY IMPACT

Building alliances with trusted, well-aligned, mission-centric partners provides a model for impact where Herren Project is the convener and provider of services. We have envisioned it and are beginning to execute our plan to show the power of collective impact.

We are developing and cultivating relationships with effective partnerships with addiction and recovery service providers, youth-serving organizations, coalitions, schools, corporations, and allies for the cause. We will continue identifying opportunities to effectively and efficiently achieve our goals for sustained program growth, racial equity, and community impact.

We completed our piloted corporate partnership program with Commodore Builders, Lawton Welding, and BayCoast Bank this year. Addiction costs employers $81 billion annually, according to NCAAD. It makes sense for corporations to become allies in addressing a public health crisis of epidemic proportions. We are grateful for their collaborative partnerships and for what we learn from this lived experience. We have made slight changes to the program to align with our strategic priorities and are excited to expand our corporate partner's program in 2023.

This year we began building partnerships with premier youth-serving organizations to give young people the resources they deserve and need to support urgent behavioral health needs. Partnering with trusted youth-serving organizations, especially in diverse communities, brings access to clinical support and educational services with the physical presence of a youth-serving organization. These collaborations will provide a unique opportunity to promote mentorship, health, and wellness and ultimately lower the risks of substance misuse and the disease of addiction.

"If we can help break barriers in serving diverse communities by providing a point of entry, access to wraparound services, and better connection to community resources, we're all the better for it." - Erin Gilliatt, RI Alliance of Boys & Girls Clubs and Executive Director, BGC of East Providence.

Partnerships with allies in the addiction movement remain vital in helping bring education and awareness and to raise funding for the cause. We were honored to support the launch of the young adult book Roxy by Neal and Jarrod Shusterman. Five hundred books were donated to our clubs and provided students with thought-provoking discussions about substance use and addiction. A charity art event inspired by the book was also held in May in Washington, DC. Fine artist Jonas Raider created a series of one-of-a-kind paintings inspired by the concepts and characters in Roxy that were auctioned, with proceeds going to the Herren Project. Many thanks to authors Neil, Jarrod, and Jonas for supporting Herren Project's efforts to educate youth on the nature of addiction.

Finally, Herren Project was identified as a "collaborative partner of choice" by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Service Administration (SAMHSA).

Positioning the Organization for Transformational Growth

Herren Project has built an integrative program and community impact model for the recovery and prevention of the disease of addiction. Our model provides a solution for all people impacted by addiction, from its recovery services to its prevention initiatives to its active community. As a national organization founded by former professional basketball player and recovery advocate Chris Herren, we have the unique opportunity to bring our innovative programs to local communities to positively impact the disease. We strive to increase our partnership opportunities with youth-servicing and recovery-based community organizations to serve better those affected by the disease and the community.

In fiscal year 2023, we look to build upon our institutional capacity to support and sustain a program capable of helping more people. We will invest more administrative resources to manage a larger organization effectively. We have reorganized our budget to allocate costs and revenues to functional activities and delegate budget authority and responsibility to team leaders. Revenue enhancement measures continue to be a top priority to improve net income for each fundraising activity to ensure we use donor dollars wisely and with the most impact.

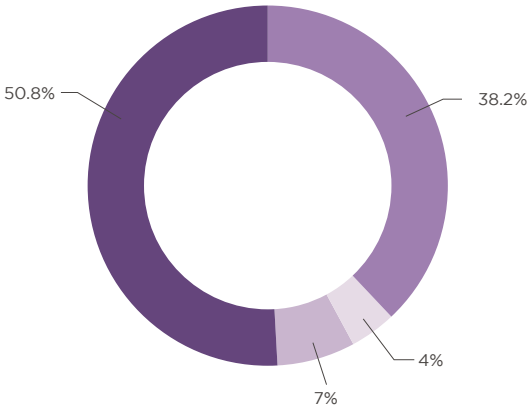

Program evaluation is also a top priority as we strive to become leaders in the addiction space. We want to prove our model works and provides the desired impact through dedicated performance management, evaluation, and learning (PMEL), focusing on research-driven logic and industry standards. We know that if clients can remain substance-free for 90 days or longer, it increases positive outcomes. Therefore, our recovery services will prioritize recovery scholarships to extend stable housing and peer support in early recovery.

In prevention, evidence supports our peer and social-emotional approach to the club model and activities. Our activities are aligned with the National Health Education Standards (NHES) and the core competencies informed by The Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning (CASEL).

We strive to grow the Herren Project active community in FY 23 by working to engage all program areas as one connected body to better support family and friends, celebrate recovery, carry hope, and honor those we have lost. Our approach to the addiction epidemic recognizes the social determinants of addiction, where families and supportive communities provide a protective role. We remain committed to our diversity, equity, and inclusion goals, helping all individuals, families, and youth live healthy, fulfilling lives, and creating a stronger, more resilient, and connected community where all people thrive free of the effects of the disease of addiction
